ordinary or fancy skating, while its hills offer all sorts of opportunities for ing a good area for skaters, and those who care to look on can do so from the glass enclosed verandas. By the first of next month Palm Beach will be at the height of its seagetting a taste of summer weather, all its accompaniments—sea bathing, vachting, fishing and what not. One hears of startling costumes worn at the Florida resorts which contrast decidedly with the furs and warm wraps that have been necessary here for the past week, and if the frigid weather continues there will be more skating carnivals in the open at Tuxedo and Sleepy Hollow.

There are signs here of a waning season, large parties being less frequent, though by no means has it been considered at all in order to ery "halt." Mrs. Astor's dinner dance was among the most important entertainments of last week, an opportunity being given to throw open once more the Astor mansion, which in years past has been the scene of notable balls and dinners. Mrs. Cuyler's theatre party for Miss Annette Markoe, one of the much favored debutantes, was followed by a supper and dance at Sherry's, for which some of the older people were invited

The Russian ballet has proved some thing of a rival to the opera, the audiences which have gathered at the Century Theatre being of the same order as those seen so frequently at the Met-League will hold forth for three nights this week at the Walderf-Asteria in a sort of glorified vaudeville that wil combine motion pictures with song and ciance and there is promise of a financial success. Society is particularly keen to see in the movies its young friends, who will also have an opportunity to behold themselves as the camera sees them.

On Wednesday afternoon there will be a concert for blind soldiers at the home of Mrs. Pulitzer, 7 East Seventythird street, and for war relief and city charities there will be the Friday Exening Dance in the Della Robbia room of the Vanderbilt. For the first three nights of the week everything will give way to the Junior League assemblage and after the performances there will be a chance for dancing One of the small dances of the week will be given at the Colony Club on Friday night by Mrs. W. Lanman Bull for her granddaughter, Miss Frederica Bull, and on the same night Mrs. J Allen Townsend is having a dance for her debutante daughter, Miss Marion Townsend. Saturday will be marked Moore and Mr. Bigelow to be followed Morgan, Camilla Morgan and Audrey by a large reception at the Colony Plub. Skating has been good at the Sleepy carnival with several groups of dancers, and as all of those in the cast The "City of Beautiful Nonsense" are proficient this part of the entertainment will be an attractive feature. Miss Inga Sontum, formerly of the Metropolitan Opera ballet, has trained the groups, which will include Zouave, Greek, Brittany peasant, Viking, Person and those already there have been sian, Gold Fish and Porcelain Figure dances.

Miss Mary Crocker Alexander has arranged the group for the dance of the Porcelain Figures. This will be done in a scene representing an antique shop and the dancers will wear
